Candidate Briefings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers is prepared to give special foreign policy briefings to presidential candidates in the 1972 campaign, the State Department said Friday.

A department spokesman, Charles W. Bray, made this known when asked about a call by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., for "in-depth discussions" by the administration to keep candidates informed.

Rogers has not yet decided just how candidates could best be kept informed about foreign policy problems, Bray said, but "as a general proposition he is prepared to make himself and the Department of State available for this purpose in the most useful and helpful way he can."

Previous administrations have undertaken similar briefings in campaign years.

Daley Has Last Word

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley and his wife, Eleanor, are on good speaking terms as usual, but —oops— they were not speaking for each other Friday.

Mrs. Daley, usually reticent on controversial matters, said she would like to see the main building of Chicago's 75-year-old Public Library saved.

A plan to remodel and restore the library building, a landmark in downtown Chicago, was rejected recently by the Chicago Plan Commission. There is talk of tearing it down to make room for a skyscraper.

"I don't think that would be nice," Mrs. Daley commented. "I'm for restoring and keeping all these beautiful buildings in Chicago."

Mayor Daley, in an impromptu meeting with newsmen, conceded that his wife is free to say what she wishes but that he believes the city needs a new central library building.

"The women are entitled to their positions," said Daley. "She doesn't speak for me, and I don't speak for her. She's able to speak for herself very well, and whatever she has in mind, I think she's free and should be to speak out and that is what she did."

Asked if he feels the building could be saved, Daley replied, "I don't think anything is out of the question, all questions are wide open . . . I really believe we need a new library, and I also believe we should have an exploration of the situation, in an agreeable and amicable way."

Daley was not through with women. He wanted to say something about the winning of Olympic gold medals by speed skaters Anne Henning and Dianne Holum of Northbrook, a Chicago suburb.

"I think this is great," he said. "It proves again the great strength of women. We should be paying more attention to them in all phases of government and politics."

Mayor Daley admitted, however, that he was disappointed that a Chicagoan didn't win a medal.

Army Aids Indians

SUPAI, Ariz. (AP) — The Army is widening footpaths and bringing electricity to the 250 Havasupai Indians who live at the bottom of the mile-deep Grand Canyon.

"We've never had the military come in and help us before," said Alfred Hanna, chairman of the tribal council which requested the Army's help. "Some of our people may still be skeptical."

The 16 soldiers of the Special Forces team, using picks and shovels, are widening two miles of footpaths running from Supai village to three spectacular waterfalls, and wiring homes for electricity brought down from a generator 3,000 feet above the village.

Hanna said the improved footpath would help bolster the tribe's meager income, because the waterfalls would be more accessible to the tourists who hike or ride mules down a nine-mile path from the canyon's edge. And it will be easier for the Indians to visit the burial grounds near the waterfalls.

The tribe's livelihood depends on small farm plots on their 500-acre reservation and on the tourists, who average about 25 a day.

Viet Orphanage Closed

BIEN HOA, South Vietnam (AP) — The Orphans' Nest is empty.

Its director is in jail and the Buddhist monks and nuns who operated the largest orphanage in South Vietnam for the past five years have been told to find employment elsewhere.

Most of the orphans have been moved to other homes. Some have been taken in by families in the area.

The orphanage is a collection of wooden, tin-roofed buildings near this provincial capital 20 miles east of Saigon. It was home to more than 1,000 children and 400 adults until last Friday night, when it was raided by 700 combat police.

Vietnamese newspapers reported two days ago the police found 114 draft dodgers inside the orphanage and that its director, Nguyen Van Su, was an ex-convict who has been sought for more than a year on charges of fraud.

Officials refuse to say whether the raid was a search for Su, draft dodgers or why the orphanage was closed.

Some local news reports and Buddhist leaders—echoed by Radio Hanoi—claimed the police swarmed over the orphanage firing tear gas, bullets and clubbing the Buddhist workers and children.

The Buddhists say three children were killed and others injured by police.

The orphanage was not sanctioned by the government.

"No one knows for certain what was going on in the orphanage," the American civilian adviser said, "but rumors were strong that the kids were taught to march and sing Viet Cong songs."

"Some of the villagers also thought the orphanage served as a VC training school but we could never prove anything. We had a lot of information about the orphanage but it could never be verified."

The adviser said he knew of no shots being fired.

Strike Forces Power Cuts

Britain Chilled, Darkened

LONDON (AP) — A struggle between the government and 280,000 striking coal miners plunged Britain's homes into chill and darkness Friday and braked the nation's industry to half speed.

But ordinary Britons coped with the electricity blackouts in a mood of resilience and camaraderie reminiscent of the dark days of World War II.

A stunned Parliament was told that the harsh cutbacks—imposed by coal-fired power stations trying to conserve dwindling fuel—could mean millions of workers laid off and electric-powered factories forced into partial shutdown.

On the street, however, neighbors got together to help old folk whose electrically heated houses went cold. Drivers queued politely at intersections endangered by darkened traffic lights. And families ate cold dinners when electric stoves stopped.

"It's just like the blitz," declared a London cockney. "We'll get through it."

The government announced that use of electricity is banned beginning Saturday to heat offices, shops, public halls, restaurants, theaters and all other premises used for recreation.

John Davies, minister for trade and industry, told the House of Commons: "Availability of electricity is deteriorating rapidly."

Big industrial plants, he said, would be prohibited from using electricity on Sundays and three other days of the week. Stringent cuts also were imposed on smaller factories.

It was estimated about 35,000 manufacturing corporations—auto plants, textile factories, steel complexes—rely entirely on electricity. Most power plants, in turn, rely on coal.

The electricity cutbacks mean, Davies said, that "many, many people, perhaps millions, will be laid off."

The government does not intend to use troops to mine coal at the moment, he added, "but I cannot speak for the future."

Davies appealed to British families meanwhile, to reduce electricity consumption. Except where there is sickness in the house, he pleaded, "only one room should be electrically heated. Light should be used only where essential."

The effects of the first nationwide miners' strike since 1926 hit every town, every home in the land. Cuts doused heaters, stoves and lights for up to nine hours a day in rotating phases.

A group of well-dressed women in London's chic West End emerged weighed down by hair curlers and nets from powerless hairdressing salons. Taxis—and one Rolls-Royce—swooped in to drive them home.

Pupils at a school in Reading, near London, compiled a list of old folk who may need help. Housewives all over the country boiled water on gas stoves for neighbors in all-electric households.

"It's the least you can do," said Mrs. Ellen Eilliam in London. "Each time I pass my neighbor I knock in case she wants anything."

The situation held little hope of relief. The miners' president, Joe Gormley, said even if his men went back to work immediately power cuts until the end of April were inevitable.

The government named Lord Wilberforce, a 64-year-old high court judge, to head an inquiry into the strike.

The miners rejected a minimum basic weekly pay of $57.20, to replace the present minimum of $49.50. They want a weekly increase of at least $15.60 to bring the minimum to $65.10.

U.S. Planes React To Enemy Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — The enemy pressed attacks across South Vietnam on Friday and forced the South Vietnamese to abandon an outpost on the central coast.

Trying to check the attacks, U.S. planes launched up to 400 strikes against suspected enemy positions, while South Vietnamese warplanes also were out in force.

South Vietnamese helicopters flew out casualties and survivors of the outpost in coastal Binh Dinh province. Government infantrymen sought out the enemy force that had besieged the post for 24 hours.

Initial reports indicated the 30-man regional force platoon guarding the outpost near An Bao hamlet suffered nearly 50 per cent casualties. Informants said the helicopters brought back two dead, 12 wounded and 16 able-bodied men.

The outpost was surrounded by an estimated 500 enemy troops Thursday morning. Most of the civilian residents of An Bao fled when a 50-round mortar barrage pounded the camp. The hamlet was deserted by the time enemy infantrymen launched a ground attack against the military outpost Thursday afternoon.

Some of the Communist-led forces tried to breach the base perimeter. Others prevented more than 200 South Vietnamese reinforcements from reaching the besieged camp by road, field report said.

The government troops were supported by jet fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships. Saigon headquarters reported 40 enemy soldiers killed in the fighting, while the South Vietnamese reinforcements suffered 10 dead and 13 wounded.

Chilean Navy Saves Passengers Of Ship

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Norwegian cruise ship Lindblad Explorer, whipped by high, icy winds, ran aground in heaving Antarctic seas Friday. All her passengers, mostly Americans, were rescued by the Chilean navy.

The New York travel agency handling the cruise said 92 passengers and 64 crewmen were aboard. The Chilean navy reported a total of 168 persons aboard. Most of the crew also were reported taken from the vessel.

The 2,480-ton ship, chartered by Lindblad Travel, Inc., of New York for an annual Antarctic tourist trip, began taking water before daybreak as 60-knot winds shrieked across Admiralty Bay as she cruised near tiny King George Island.

The island is about 600 miles south of Cape Horn at the tip of South America. Chile has several research stations near the area.

The engine room was reported flooded and the 230-foot ship began wallowing helplessly in the roiling waters and the captain radioed for aid.

Capt. Ladislao d'Hainud, commander of the Chilean navy's Antarctic flotilla, dispatched the tug Yelcho and the transport Piloto Pardo to Admiralty Bay for the rescue.

The navy said the passengers and most crewmen were transferred to the Piloto Pardo, which carries two light helicopters on her aft deck and is specially equipped for Antarctic work. Boats were used to transport them to the shore.

U.S. And EEC To Negotiate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Common Market Friday announced agreement to conduct global negotiations in 1973 aimed at lowering trade barriers.

At the same time, in simultaneous announcements in Washington and Brussels, the two sides said they reached agreement on mutual concessions, breaking a deadlock that appeared to jeopardize trade relations between the United States and the 10-nation trade bloc.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally called the agreement "a step forward in the effort to assure fair trade practices, an effort that began with President Nixon's announcement of last Aug. 15."

The comprehensive review of international economic relations is expected to cover "all elements of trade, including measures which impede or distort agricultural, raw material and industrial trade," the announcement said.

The two sides stated they would give special attention to the problems of the poorer countries, with the aim of "expansion and ever greater liberalization of world trade and improvement of the living of the people of the world."

The package agreement on immediate concessions includes a pledge by the United States to add to its stockpiles 10 per cent of its production of grains in the crop year 1971-72. Experts estimate that production in this crop year is in the neighborhood of 231 million metric tons.

The United States also promised to withdraw 18 million acres from production of feed grains and eight million acres from production of wheat for the 1972-73 crop year.

The Common Market, on the other hand, agreed to:

—Reduce from 15 to 5 per cent its tariffs on oranges imported from the United States during the peak American export season from June to September.

—Cut back grapefruit imports from 6 to 4 per cent.

—Stockpile 1.5 million metric tons of wheat from the 1971-72 crop and promised to discuss a similar stockpiling from next year's crop with the United States "at the appropriate time."

—Discuss U.S. grievances over Common Market tobacco taxes.

WASHINGTON: Dr. Bertram S. Brown, director of the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), the government's top psychiatrist (right) Friday urged an easing of marijuana laws. Although he did not recommend legalization, he said he feels that the penalties (for use and possession) are much too severe. At left is Dr. Robert Petersen, and in center is Dr. William E. Bunney Jr., Director of NIMH's division of Narcotic Addiction and Drug Abuse, who joined Brown in briefing newsmen on the 2nd annual report on Marijuana and Health sent to Congress Friday by the Department of HEW. ## Caucus Plans Meeting On Strike Settlement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —

The 110-member West Coast longshore union caucus will meet here Saturday to decide its recommendation on the tentative agreement for ending the 126-day dock strike.

Despite the pressure of President Nixon's new authority to order an immediate strike halt, there were indications the caucus will not call the 13,000 strikers back to work before a membership ratification vote.

The caucus—delegates from union locals in all 24 strike-closed Pacific ports—will set the date for the ratification ballot. Balloting could take a week or more.

Harry Bridges, 70-year-old International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union president, has said the union's negotiating committee will recommend approval of the agreement reached last Tuesday with the employer Pacific Maritime Association.

But in congressional hearings on the Nixon-requested compulsory arbitration measure to end the strike, Bridges repeatedly declared that the ILWU strikers would not return to their jobs until after a secret vote approving an agreement.

The House completed action on the measure Wednesday. President Nixon has said he will delay signing the special measure until after the union has opportunity to ratify.

The law empowers the President to end the strike immediately with a new agreement to be written under compulsory arbitration. Future strike action would be barred for 13 months.

The tentative agreement is with the Pacific Maritime Association, representing 122 shipping and stevedoring companies.

Albert Brundage, Teamsters union attorney, raised the question in Los Angeles whether the tentative settlement would cost the Teamsters jobs in the long tug-of-war between the two unions over work involved in packing and unloading containers.

The ILWU-PMA agreement provides the PMA to pay a royalty of $1-a-ton on all container cargo not worked by ILWU men in a 50-mile, off-dock zone.

A Western Conference of Teamsters spokesman said that despite Brundage's remarks no decision had been reached on a Teamsters position.

Sam Kagel, arbitrator in the longshore-shipper disputes, said the tentative agreement settled all economic issues. It calls for a 72-cent-an-hour boost to $5 an hour in the first year and to $5.40 in the second year. A 36-hour week pay guarantee also is provided. Kagel has been meeting with both sides to seek resolution of some remaining non-economic issues. If both sides could not reach agreement he would arbitrate a settlement, he said.

Texas System Of Financing Primary Elections Unlawful

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court ruling throwing out Texas' system of financing primary elections through filing fees assessed by the parties appears unlikely to have implications elsewhere except perhaps in Arkansas.

In most of the states, primary expenses are paid from general revenues by either state or county governments, or a combination of the two, with the filing fees meeting only a nominal share of the total.

The situation in Texas remains unclear. At least since 1916, when the state supreme court ruled that political parties were private organizations and could not spend tax money for primaries, their cost has been met through candidates' filing fees. The state constitution forbids use of public funds for private purposes.

The system was challenged by Rick Johnson, a Dallas candidate for justice of the peace who would have been required to pay out $3,456 for a $21,600 annual salary. A three-judge federal court in Dallas agreed on Jan. 20 with his contention that the system was unconstitutional. It specified the "reasonable" fees of from $25 to $400 could be charged.

Secretary of State Bob Bullcock has issued rules enabling candidates who can't or won't pay the fees to get on the ballot via nominating petitions, signed by 2,500 registered voters for statewide office and as few as 25 for some local offices.

Words With An Immortal Echo

It seems to be a law of communications that the larger the audience that is tuned in, the less memorable are the things it hears.

This is true of much of the fare broadcast over the airwaves. It is certainly true of advertising and is probably just as true of politics.

Even back in the 1920s, when radio was in its infancy, a president could command an audience far greater than was present in Gettysburg on November 19, 1863, to hear Abraham Lincoln.

Today, even in an unscheduled, spur-of-the-moment appearance on television, a president can be heard and be seen by more Americans than were alive in Lincoln's time.

But no president before or after Lincoln ever created or uttered such a jewel as his Gettysburg Address, nor has any American document been read, repeated, memorized and loved by so many people around the world.

There are at least two legends about this famous address. The most familiar is the one which holds that Lincoln's words were poorly received and that he left the battlefield with the conviction that he had failed.

To be sure, there were caustic comments in a few newspapers, typical of that partisan day. But at least one Chicago paper stated prophetically that "The dedicatory remarks of President Lincoln will live among the annals of man."

Edward Everett, the principal speaker, who preceded Lincoln with a two-hour oration, wrote him the next day: "I should be glad if I could flatter myself that I came as near to the central idea of the occasion in two hours as you did in two minutes."

Recently, some scholars have claimed that Lincoln's speech was actually greeted tumultuously. They cite a diary or newspaper account which records that it was interrupted half a dozen or more times with applause and cheers.

But it is as difficult to believe that this short speech — only 272 words long and taking about two and a half minutes to deliver — could be interrupted so many times than it is to believe that it was totally ignored and unappreciated.

A theory suggested by Clifton Fadiman some years ago seems closer to what really happened.

Picture Lincoln standing in the open air, speaking without benefit of a loudspeaker system to a probably restless crowd of 15,000 which had just finished listening to Edward Everett orate for two solid hours. It is likely that only a few heard what Lincoln said. The speech would have been over before the crowd could have been aware that it had begun.

This, thought Fadiman, may have been the basis for the story that the speech was considered to be a failure.

At any rate, no amount of modern electronics gear could have transformed into greatness a speech that was not great to begin with.

No size of audience, no amount of applause or favorable newspaper comment, could have made immortal words that were not endowed with immortality at the moment they were conceived in Abraham Lincoln's great mind.

A man like Lincoln stands above time and technology.

Senate's Snail-Like Pace Frustrates Mansfield

By STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Question of the week: Who fools around, smooches and chatters incessantly?
The surprise answer, from no less an authority than Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield: Members of the U.S. Senate.
Frustrated by the Senate's snail-like pace during the first three weeks of the session, the gentle-mannered Mansfield gave way to some Irish ire.

He charged members of the Senate with mass absenteeism, dilatory tactics and lollygagging.
Mass absenteeism, dilatory tactics, and chattering, are not only easily understood but comfortable companions of the Senate. They are, and always have been, programmed into the Senate's operation. No senator could possibly take offense.

But lollygagging, Sen. Mansfield?
An excursion into Webster's Third New International Dictionary (unabridged, of course) provides a choice of definitions of lollygagging.

The first definition is to fool around, loiter, or dawdle.
No. 2 is to neck in public or to smooch.
Third and last is to chatter incessantly.

Does the Senate fool around? Well, not really, except perhaps during late night sessions or during the happy hour of adjournment sine die. Anyway, certainly not as much since Sen. Robert C. Byrd, the Democratic whip, started cracking down.

Loiter? Well, yes, there is a tendency among senators to loiter around but rarely on the Senate floor which is mostly empty. Same for dawdle.

As far as known—in the absence of a study by the Library of Congress—no senator has ever been accused of necking or smooching in public. Certainly not in the Senate chamber.

Maybe Mansfield at some time will clear up the mystery, as to what definition of lollygagging he had in mind.

End Run Around Hanoi

Nixon Pressures China, Soviet

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Nixon's talk on Vietnam was addressed more to Peking than to Hanoi.

This is why his appeal came just before the mainland China trip—and his Vietnam talks with Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai.

For 2½ years Mr. Nixon and his national security adviser Henry A. Kissinger were strongly confident they could get Hanoi to negotiate. This confidence held up during the most frustrating of Hanoi's stalling, double-talk and double dealing. Kissinger, for one, is known to have believed that given time, firmness, patience and logic, something would move.

This confidence is gone. The two men are understood now to be convinced Hanoi has no intention of negotiating. Unless some compelling pressure can be brought to bear.

This is where Peking comes in.

North Vietnam cannot carry on the war without sizable economic aid and arms from China and Russia. Moscow's aid would be difficult to deliver in the quantities required without Peking's cooperation, so long as the Suez Canal remains closed. Therefore, if Mao and Chou can be convinced it is to their interest to end the war, China can bring compelling pressure on Hanoi. If Hanoi refuses, China can, by shutting the valves, cut the Indochina war to an insignificant level.

The problem then is convincing Mao and Chou.

Here Mr. Nixon has a lever. Peking is deeply concerned over Moscow's border fights, the threats to China's nuclear bases and Russia's all-out effort to "encircle" China from the south.

This encirclement is of such great concern that Mao and Chou have agreed to talks with the United States.

The Russians to date have been highly successful in the south. They've concluded an alliance with India, backed New Delhi in its war with Pakistan. They've made considerable advances in Afghanistan, made serious approaches to Cambodia, Indonesia and other Southeast Asian nations aiming at a defensive alliance with Soviet sponsorship.

Timely Quotes

No matter how they (the Democrats) attack the President, they cannot obscure two things. First, the fact that they are responsible for Vietnam, and, second, the fact that Richard Nixon is responsible for acting to bring that war to a close.
—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Law For Today

Q. I always thought a lot of expense could be avoided by leaving a will. Now, I understand that a will must go through probate court. Assuming there are no contestants and the property will pass to surviving members of the family, isn't it more expensive to have paid for a will over and above the probate cost?

A. You were right the first time. A properly drawn will can produce savings. For example, it may provide that the executor need not furnish a surety bond to the court. The role of the probate court is to be sure creditors are paid and that the balance of the estate is distributed to the heirs according to the will or according to the law of descent and distribution if there is no will. Lack of a will is likely to create expense since the court then must appoint an administrator to oversee payment to creditors and distribution to the heirs. Finally, the heirs and property distribution made by law in absence of a will may—or may not—be what the deceased intended.

Ann Landers:

Sees Reflection Of Her Own Misery

Dear Ann Landers: I don't mind the fact that when a husband's parents become old and sick, he expects his wife to cater to them, nurse them, help them, comfort them, do whatever lies in her power to make their last days easier. Any wife worthy of the name will do everything she can for her in-laws.

But when HER parents get sick and old, it's a different story. The husband curses under his breath, criticizes them, resents and argues about the time and money and energy she is spending on her old folks. The wife is caught like a rat in a trap — torn between her obligation to her parents and her responsibilities to her husband. This is the dilemma faced by women of every economic, intellectual and social strata. It's the time of life when a wife finally learns what a skunk her husband really is.

If your column is, as you claim, a true reflection of life as people live it, why don't you print some off the hundreds of letters you must receive on this subject? Or are you interested only in key-hole peeping, fun and games and a little polite sex?—R.S.J. of Tulsa

Dear Mrs. R.: Of course, some husbands feel as yours does but there are also thousands of husbands who are wonderful to their wives' parents. My own husband, for example, adored my parents and treated them with great consideration.

One cannot get a true reflection of life by looking in the mirror. What you see my friend, is not life, but a reflection of your own misery.

Dear Ann Landers: I work for the American Cancer Society. My office faces the street and I can look out the window and see people as they do their shopping, hurrying from one place to another. During the holidays I saw hundreds of parents laden down with expensive toys for their children. They wanted to make their youngsters happy. How strange and ironic that these same parents who would probably spend their last cent on a gift don't realize that the best gift a parent can give a child is himself—his time, love and understanding. When this is missing, no other gift can take its place.

How many parents who smoke have been asked by their children to stop, yet they refuse. How many of these parents will die prematurely from lung cancer caused by cigarettes? If these parents have no regard for their own lives they might at least consider what it means to their children. Thanks, Ann, for letting me say something that has been on my mind for a long time. —L.S., Waukegan, Wis., Unit, American Cancer Society

Dear L.S.: You took the words out of my mouth. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I was engaged to an oddball and he sort of broke the engagement. I kept the ring, which is a beautiful solitaire. I now have a new boyfriend who wants to buy me an engagement ring. I don't see why he should put out a lot of money since I already have a ring. I'd like to sell this ring to my new boyfriend and tell my ex-fiance that I sold his ring and give him the money. This way the boyfriend could buy me a lovely ring at a good price and the ex-fiance would get part of his money back. What do you think? — Waiting in Council Bluffs

Dear Waiting: You say your ex-fiance "sort of" broke the engagement. If this is true the ring, according to law, is yours. If YOU sort of broke the engagement, the ring belongs to him — in which case you have no right to sell it.

BURL IVES SUED ON FRANCHISE ISSUE
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A New Mexico businessman sued Burl Ives for $1.1 million Thursday, charging that the actor-folk singer broke verbal agreement to back a string of franchised "Burl Ives Wayfarer Campgrounds."
Roger Cunningham of Santa Fe said he spent $40,000 trying to put the plan into operation. He charged that Ives did not live up to his word that he would share equally in the start-up expenses of the franchised campgrounds and lend the use of his name and likeness for publicity.
Ives has refused to repay Cunningham for his share of the money spent so far, Cunningham alleged, and refuses to allow the camp-ground company to use his likeness for publicity.

Amphetamine Production Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Production of the stimulant drugs, amphetamines, will be cut by 80 per cent in 1972, the Justice Department says.
An order signed Thursday by John E. Ingersoll, director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, sets 1972 production quotas at 1,564 kilograms of amphetamines and 969 kilograms of another stimulant, methamphetamine.
Manufacturers produced 9,356 kilograms of amphetamines and 4,926 kilograms of methamphetamine in 1971, Ingersoll said.
The 1972 quotas are adequate to provide for estimated medical, scientific-research and industrial needs, lawful export requirements and establishment and maintenance of reserve stocks, the department said in announcing the cutbacks.
Amphetamines are used by drug abusers for the high they produce. Doctors sometimes prescribe them for diet control and to help persons stay awake for long periods of time.

OFFICIALS HOST CITIZENSHIP DAY AT BEARDSTOWN

BEARDSTOWN — Beardstown businessmen and city officials gathered with the "executives" of tomorrow at the annual Citizenship Day banquet for Boy Scouts at the Manhattan Cafe.

More than 100 youngsters and their sponsors were served chicken and trimmings before going to the offices and other headquarters of their elders to learn about the business of the day.

Greg Meyer was acting mayor and performed the duties with Mayor Summey at city hall. Acting chiefs of police, the fire department and city clerk were also on duty.

Many other official duties were performed by the boys to give them an idea of how general business activities are conducted.

Dale Hager was master of ceremonies for a brief program following the dinner. He introduced local Scout leaders and two executives from Jacksonville.

SAW THROUGH BARS TO ESCAPE PRISON
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Nineteen men sawed their way out of the Warrensville Workhouse and escaped, prison officials said yesterday.
The men cut through bars in a gymnasium, climbed onto a roof, dropped 24 feet to the ground and made what authorities believe was the largest mass escape in the institution's history.
One inmate was captured soon after the break Thursday night and two others were seized early today following a high speed-chase. Officials said they had stolen a car and were pursued and caught in suburban Lakewood.
The break was discovered during a bed check.
Workhouse commissioner Kenneth Cooley said 16 of the prisoners were awaiting trial on felony charges and the other three were serving municipal court sentences. The 62-year-old institution is located in suburban Warrensville Heights.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12

Born today, you are a person of great patience. Always willing to bide your time, to wait for others to catch up with you before moving on physically or mentally, you never become annoyed when time passes without any real progress being made or when those upon whom you must depend for success are slower than you might wish about holding up their end of any situation. In short, you tolerate other people's idiosyncrasies — and in return you expect others to tolerate those differences they might find in you.

One who admires the learned and enjoys the various processes by which knowledge is gained, you will spend a great deal of your time throughout your life seeking new sources of information and understanding. Nor will you be satisfied merely to taste the springs of learning; as the poet says, you will want to drink deep at the source of knowledge or to forgo the pleasure completely.

Highly observant, you allow very little to escape you. On the other hand, you do not expect others to possess your knack of hearing, seeing, sensing very nearly everything going on about them. It is part of your nature to take things as you find them — just as it is part of your nature to get along with people without trying to change them in any way.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, February 13
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Changes in mood make it difficult for you to smooth things over where family differences are concerned. Try to talk quietly to small children.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — With mischief in the air, this may be the time for you to lie low within the confines of your own room. Morning chores are demanding.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Church attendance makes it possible for you to receive the spiritual succor you're looking for. A good day for increasing your understanding of life.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Don't make the mistake of thinking that your elders won't make good company. Young people may cause difficulty; the elderly should change matters.

GEMINI (May 22-June 12) — Walk rather than run; laugh rather than cry; speak as quietly as you can — and don't be surprised if a small wish comes true by evening.

CANCER (June 23-July 23) — Think carefully about the direction your life is taking at this time. The decision you have made recently may not be the right one.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Although you may not appreciate another's interference, you would be wise not to show any annoyance. New possibility for gain arises late in the day.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Take a new route on your way to and from your customary place of business or profession. You may be surprised — and delighted — with what you find.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Should another refuse to accept the extended hand of friendship, don't worry about it. The loss is not yours; it belongs to another.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Morning worship is your best bet if you need spiritual cheering up. Listen carefully to words of wisdom passed on to you by another.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Take care that you don't overexert yourself this morning. Otherwise, you will not be up to the demands of afternoon and evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Results of your efforts to put a friendship on firm footing again may be less than you'd hoped for. Even so, continue to try for a reconciliation.

Mod Squad For Real In Toronto

TORONTO (AP) — Some policemen in this city of two million are strolling around in bright sweaters and flared pants. They consider the word "pig" almost a term of endearment.

In Toronto, the mod squad is for real. Community service officers, or CSOs, are mixing with minority groups, tenants, teen-agers and gangs in an effort to bridge the gap between police and public.

The key word is talking, a relic from the cop-on-the-beat days when cities were smaller, says Jack Ackroyd, deputy chief of police.

"It's important that we learn to listen to people who are openly critical or hostile," he observes. "They're precisely the ones with whom relations need to be improved."

There is at least one in each of the city's 20 police divisions. Sometimes they shoot pool or have a beer with residents in their assigned area.

Such familiarity pays off. Bob Coughell, a onetime uniformed officer who had trouble handling tough kids and drunks, went to investigate a disturbance after joining the CSOs. He ended up being worked over by a gang of toughs.

But 15 teen-agers whom he had befriended on his new assignment heard the thuds.

"Hey, it's Bob," one of them yelled, "Let's go."
Their rescue of a policeman in an area where there used to be cries of "kill the cop" reflected the changing atmosphere in the densely populated apartment towers of Regent Park.

Jackie Hobbs, a dark-eyed beauty wears sweater and jeans on the beat. She relates especially to girls and their mothers, but has been accepted by all. Burly youths now clean up their language and hold doors for her.

"Pig is part of the rhetoric," said Ross Praskey, a CSO at one downtown division. "Peer-group pressure dictates that they call you pig. But hell, it's only a word."

NIXON TO GET BRIEFING ON CHINA'S LEADERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is calling on France's former minister of culture, Andre Malraux, for a first-hand analysis of China's leaders.

Nixon said at his news conference Thursday he has asked Malraux to brief him personally at a meeting Monday in the White House. The meeting will be followed by a dinner for Malraux.

Although there are many China experts from whom he could have gotten counsel, Nixon said, he selected Malraux because of a favorable meeting between the two in 1969.

"We had a discussion prior to dinner on the subject of China generally," the President said, "and I was particularly impressed with his analysis of the leaders."

When does a baby start to think?
Nobody knows, but thoughts come by association. Baby eagerly responds to the sight of a bottle. Experience proves that the bottle offers both satisfaction and comfort.
Because baby does learn by association, it is important that parents expand their children's horizons. A very small child will respond to a simple prayer. And a child of three will enjoy attending Church School geared for youngsters of that age.
Religious instruction and guidance is not only for the mature—it is needed regularly by everyone. The spiritual life of your child needs constant cultivation and the mind needs day by day development.

In Hollywood

EDITOR'S NOTE—The glory days of Hollywood are far in the past but things aren't all gloomy for the movie industry as 1972 unfolds. The following last of two articles on what lies in store for Hollywood in year ahead tells of the industry's hopes and fears.

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie industry is beginning to see some daylight through the dark clouds that have caused gloom for the last five years. "This year will be better." That's the cautious optimism of most leaders of the film business. Their caution is natural; 1971 was not a good year. But certain indications point to improvement in 1972 of the long-ailing industry.

Says Robert Evans, production chief of Paramount: "Less and less people are going to 'the movies,' but more and more people are going to 'a movie.' If you can find that movie that people urgently want to see, you can prosper." Veteran producer Michael Frankovich agrees: "Pictures will definitely feel more losses than ever before as audiences become more selective. But as audiences become more selective, the big pictures will be bigger than ever."

Adolph Zukor, 99-year-old founding father of the film industry, expressed the same thought in a recent interview: "A company needs only one or two (blockbuster) pictures each year, and it can pay for all the other pictures that lose money."

This represents the survival philosophy that dominates industry thinking today. It started with "The Sound of Music," which astounded everyone by amassing $100 million in film rentals. Its success led 20th Century-Fox and other companies to invest many millions in trying to duplicate it, with near-bankruptcy results. Fox's "Hello, Dolly!" and "Tora Tora Tora" cost $50 million and returned $41 million.

Now the film companies are operating on the theory that blockbusters can be produced without huge production costs. Example: "The French Connection," which cost $3.2 million and will bring back more than either "Dolly" or "Tora." "The more efficient production becomes, the more production we'll have," predicts John Gavin, president of the Screen Actors Guild. "Every company is cutting costs and making economies that were advised 15 years ago. That can only bring about a healthier industry."

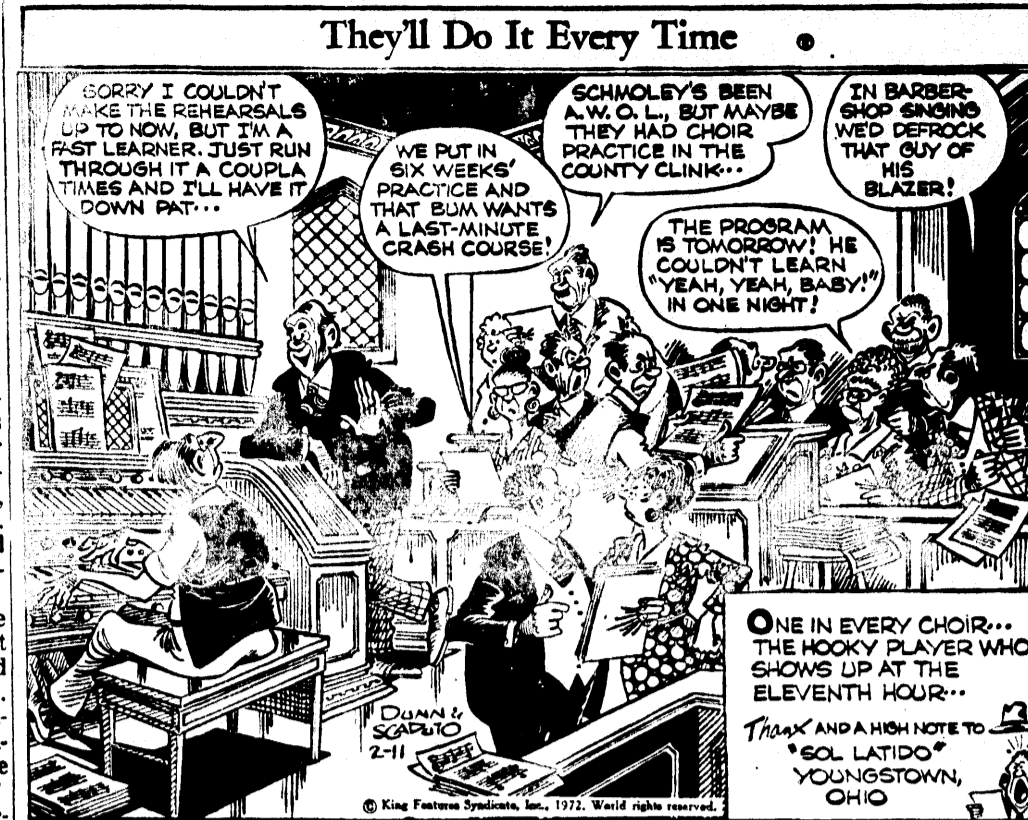

Gavin foresees a real upturn by the third quarter of 1972. The basis for his prediction: streamlining of company operations; revival in the country's economy; legislative help in curing the industry's ills.

All companies have abandoned the "shoot-it-at-any-cost" philosophy. A $3-million film budget is becoming more of a rarity as producers seek to cut expense at every level. "It's got to be done all the way down the line," says Paramount's Evans. "That means deferment of salaries for actors and directors. It means smaller crews. It means cutting down on long-distance phone calls and dressing rooms and company cars. It's not one thing that runs up the cost of films. It's a thousand things."

Some industry leaders predict a new prosperity from development of new audiences for films. Says Gordon Stulberg, president of Fox:

"The film business is much like the airline industry. Your margin of profit or loss is based on how many seats are occupied. If your theaters or airplanes go empty, you lose money. That has been our problem: not enough 'passengers' in the seats."

"The problem was solved for a while by finding a new medium for films: network and syndicated television. Now we

Allergic To Valentine's Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There is one time in the year when I feel like hiding in bed all day with the covers pulled over my head.

That is on St. Valentine's Day.

I am allergic to it. It is a red-headed day for all the earth's lovers, but Valentine's Day is just another nosebleed to me.

Nothing nice ever happened on Valentine's Day to me.

The only thing I ever got on Feb. 14 was trouble.

It all started on Feb. 14, 1916, the year the Battle of Jutland was fought and I entered kindergarten.

I bought an insulting penny need to find new audiences, and for the first time, we know where they can come from."

Stulberg cited these mediums: cable television or some other form of pay TV ("surveys show that the public will pay between $5 and $15 a month to see noncommercial movies"); home showings via cassettes; individual telecasts in hotels, motels and hospitals.

The Fox president added: "During the next 10 years, I believe a new pattern will emerge for films: First they will play theaters; then they will get into the home through some form of pay TV; then they will be released for hotels, airlines, hospitals, etc."

valentine and started to leave it on the desk of the manliest little girl in the class, of whose muscles we were all in awe.

Someone in the class rattled on me, and the next thing I knew this 65-pound baby tigress was sitting astride my chest and pounding my head on the wooden floor. I still wake up every Valentine's morning with a ringing in my ears.

I guess I must have been 12 when I was a street newsboy and fell deeply in love with blonde middle-aged wife of a man who ran a cleaning shop.

She was so tall I had to make echoes if I wanted her to look down and smile at me.

On Valentine's Day, while she was in the back of the shop, I put a newspaper on her desk as usual—plus my gift, a box of cheap face powder—and fled.

Later, she called me back to her shop and handed me a sealed envelope. Outside, I opened it with trembling hands—and out fell a dollar bill.

No life before or since has ever been so crushed in ignominy. No lacy valentine, no tender note—just a paltry buck.

Did she think a love as fine as mine was for sale?

On Feb. 14, 1943 in Tunisia I bit down on an Army-rationed Tootsie Roll—and out fell one of my teeth. I still keep it among my Valentine's Day souvenirs.

But the worst of my blunders came on Feb. 14, 1938, when I had been married only a few months. I had failed to buy my new wife a gift and when she remarked about it, I said:

"Why should I give you a present? We're married now. Valentine's Day is a single girl's racket."

Well, that unfortunate husbandly remark has been haunting me for 34 years now.

A happy St. Valentine's Day? Impossible. It's a kind of Doomsday to me.

They made a federal case out of it in two counties, but county clerks in university communities now uniformly claim they are treating college students the same as anyone else when it comes to voter registration.

Ever since the 18-year-olds were given the right to vote, county clerks have been left at odds with the student population because the Illinois General Assembly had failed to clarify whether students should be allowed to vote where their parents live or where they attend college.

The clerks were left with the problem of solving where the student makes his permanent home.

They also were left with the problem of protecting the interests of life-long residents of their county in which enfranchisement of a student population may double the number of registered voters.

In Jackson, DeKalb, McLean and Champaign counties, there are almost as many students as townspeople registered to vote.

Last month a federal court order requiring that all voter applicants be treated equally solved the problem for all the clerks.

"I don't think there was any real concern about that here," said Delmar Ward, clerk of Jackson county where Southern Illinois University is located. "I treated students as mature and responsible voters from the start. And I have never asked any of them if they were students."

Harry Grafton, clerk in Coles County, and Dennis Bing, the clerk in Champaign County, were not so inclined.

About 100 students filled Grafton's office two months ago when it was learned he was questioning Eastern Illinois University students about their intentions to remain in Charleston after they were graduated.

At the time he said it was up to the clerk to determine whether the student was a permanent resident or just passing by on his way through college.

Bing was asking the same questions. And in January, the American Civil Liberties Union filed suit against him in U.S. District Court seeking to have his special treatment of college students declared unconstitutional.

The suit was filed on behalf of several University of Illinois students.

On Jan. 26, Judge Henry Wise of U.S. District Court ruled that election officials may not ask more questions of student applicants than they do of nonstudents.

A week later, Grafton told a news conference he would comply with the federal order. Bing registered 237 students Thursday after 100 students turned out to test his reaction to the court order.

A student identification card was good enough for registration.

The requirements the state has set for voters are that one must be a U.S. citizen, a resident of the state for six months and a precinct resident for 30 days.

"We don't have any set of rules we stick by here except the state residency requirements," said Shirley Simpkins, deputy registrar in McDonough County, where 13,000 Western Illinois University students almost balance the 16,000 registered voters in the Macomb area.

But she added that she tells each student that he registers under oath.

"We believe what they tell us about being permanent residents here," she said.

The same holds true in Madison County where the student population at the Edwardsville campus of Southern amounts to about half as many persons as 23,000 registered voters in the county.

"We don't even ask for identification," Eulalia Hotz said. The county clerk assistant added, "We tell them they are committing perjury if they lie about their residence."

"If you want to take the responsibility to take the oath, it's your privilege," Bertha Joiner, deputy county clerk in DeKalb County, said. The county encompasses the campus of Northern Illinois University.

But obtaining a voter registration card is not the last step.

On election day, most of the clerks warn, a challenge may be made to a person's legal right to vote in the college town.

"We have no right to refuse someone who comes in and swears that he is a permanent resident in Adams County," said Mrs. Lois Miller, clerk in the county where Quincy College is located. "But then again, someone may be there on election day who challenges whether a student is here to stay."

EPA Softens Standards For Trucks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency, bowing to objections from the auto industry, announced Friday it is softening its proposed antipollution limits on heavy-duty vehicles and delaying their application for one year until 1974.

The agency also said it was developing more advanced standards to be applied in 1976.

Deputy Administrator Robert Fri said critics convinced EPA it was taking the wrong approach, and the agency could not change its plans quickly enough to apply standards to 1973-model trucks and other heavy-duty vehicles.

Fri said standards would be applied to 1974 models. The proposed standards themselves will also be revised, said Fri and Eric Stork, director of EPA's Mobile Source Pollution Control Program.

As proposed last October, the expected EPA regulations will apply national standards on carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons, and nitrogen oxides to heavy-duty diesel engines for the first time, and would also place federal nitrogen oxide limits for the first time on heavy-duty gasoline engines.

But Fri and Stork said their original proposal, requiring separate testing and control over hydrocarbons and nitrogen oxide would probably be dropped.

They said the 1974 regulations would probably follow the requirements already established in California, allowing a single measurement of the total amount of hydrocarbons plus nitrogen oxide.

Stork admitted this would "leave the manufacturer the option of trading off one pollutant for another"—leaving the hard-to-control nitrogen oxides at high levels, for example, and making up for them by cutting hydrocarbon emissions.

West Pike Tips Barry By 56-50 For Loop Crown

KINDERHOOK — West Pike clinched the Wenois Conference title Friday evening with a 56-50 victory over Barry.

Randy Borrowman led West Pike in the scoring column with 18 while Dale Billings chipped in with ten. Barry was led by Jim Keller with 15 and Dwight Ala who added 12.

Barry outshot West Pike from the field by connecting on 15-39 for 38.5 per cent while Barry hit 23-62 for 37.1 per cent. West Pike hit 10-16 from the charity stripe for 62.5 per cent while Barry hit 20-37 for 54 per cent.

The turning point in the ball game was the ability of West Pike to control the boards with West Pike grabbing 45 while Barry could only get 24. West Pike committed one more mistake than Barry, 12-11.

In the two previous meetings between the two ball clubs Barry had come out on top both times. The teams play again in the regional.

West Pike now stands 5-1 in the Wenois Conference and 4-1 in the Pike County Conference while Barry drops to 4-2 in the Wenois and 6-1 in the Pike County Conference, and 16-6 overall.

Ross, Hoover Spark Wildcats Past East Pike

MILTON — Palmyra Northwestern edged out a 74-72 non-conference victory over East Pike Friday evening.

George Ross and Stan Hoover led Northwestern in scoring with 25 and 23 points, respectively. Leon Dennis and Augie Reznicek also were in double figures for Northwestern with 12 and ten respectively.

Mark Allen led the East Pike scoring with 23 and Danny Bess added 18. Perry Moore and Roger Yellott had 18 and 12 respectively for the losers.

East Pike held a slim 42-38 halftime lead but a hot third quarter for Northwestern allowed them to take a 64-49 lead at the end of the third stanza.

East Pike came roaring back but their hopes for victory were cut short.

Northwestern now stands 3-17 overall and East Pike is now 4-17.

Vice-President Seeks To Alter Golfing Image

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who has an interesting history in this tournament, will try it again Saturday in the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

Tournament officials announced Friday that the vice president will play in a four-some with pro Doug Sanders, Bob Hope and Frank Sinatra in Saturday's fourth round play in the five-day tournament.

The event will be televised nationally by NBC-TV from 2:30 p.m.

Agnew has played twice before in his pro-am event and has hit four people with three errant shots.

Sanders, who plays with Agnew in casual rounds several times a year, was the victim here in 1970. He was standing in the fairway when the vice president shanked his second shot and hit Sanders in the back of the head hard enough to draw blood.

"I thought I was safe in the fairway," Sanders quipped later. "If I was in the rough or behind a tree, I thought he might hit my way, but I didn't figure to get it in the fairway."

Last year Agnew hit three spectators on two shots. Both were on the first tee.

Armstrong Wins 2 From Turner

Armstrong Junior high closed out its basketball season with a pair of grade school victories over Jonathan Turner at the Armstrong gymnasium Friday evening.

The Armstrong eighth grade club got nine key second half points from reserve Larry Wilson and went on to nip Turner 50-47 in overtime, with Mike Schneider and Wilson getting the extra frame buckets.

Schneider and Wilson finished with 11 and Mark Brant ten for the winners, who ended up at 5-13. Lewis had 17, Huston 12 and Versen 11 for the losers.

Swiss Not Willing To Drop Prosecution Of Mrs. Irving

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A New York City police department handwriting expert said Friday he believed Howard Hughes' signature had been forged on correspondence to Clifford Irving, author of a purported autobiography of the billionaire, and to McGraw-Hill.

Capt. Joseph McNally told reporters after his appearance before a New York County grand jury that there had been "a tremendous amount of effort on someone's part to perpetrate this fraud."

Meanwhile, Swiss authorities said Friday that it would not be possible to drop any proposed prosecution of Irving's German-born wife for bank fraud and forgery in return for her husband's cooperation in an investigation of the disputed book in the United States.

In New York, both Irving and a federal prosecutor declined comment on published reports that the author had admitted never meeting the billionaire reclusive and that he had offered to tell more only if assured his wife would not be prosecuted in the United States or Switzerland.

Irving's attorney, Maurice Nessen, denied the accuracy of the stories in Friday's Los Angeles Times and The New York Times.

The California newspaper said both Irving and his research assistant, Richard R. Suskind, conceded they had not met the wealthy industrialist, who lives in the Bahamas.

A telephone voice purporting to be Hughes recently denied ever meeting Irving and termed the book a fake.

The New York Times quoted unnamed sources as saying that the subject of last Wednesday's 4½-hour conference between Irving and federal investigators was the writer's attempt to make a deal for his wife's immunity from prosecution.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Morvillo, heading the government's probe, was returning Friday from Zurich, where he conferred with Swiss authorities.

In Zurich, Dr. Jakob Muller, chief district attorney, told a reporter that the Swiss case against Mrs. Irving could be dropped only "if there is satisfactory evidence that she is innocent." She is charged in Switzerland with bank fraud and forgery.

A spokesman for the justice and police ministry in Bern said a formal request for her extradition as a Swiss citizen probably will be sent Monday to the Swiss embassy in Washington.

Irving has said his wife, 36, posed as "Helga R. Hughes" and cashed $650,000 in checks which McGraw-Hill wrote to "H.R. Hughes" in payment for the rights to the billionaire's life story. Part of the $650,000—$442,000—was withdrawn from one Zurich bank and deposited in another. The other $208,000 is not all accounted for.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John J. Tighe Jr. also was in Europe on the case. He reportedly planned to confer with Spanish officials in Madrid. He declined to say if he planned to pick up tapes and documents taken from Irving's Ibiza island home during the week by Spanish police.

Morvillo planned to fly to Barbados Saturday with his family for a week's vacation. Before his departure for Europe he laughed off reporters' suggestions that he might be going to the Caribbean to see Hughes.

Al Capp Admits Guilt, Fined On Morals Charge

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP) — Cartoonist Al Capp was fined $500 and costs Friday on one of three morals charges resulting from accusations made by a university coed last spring.

Two other charges against the creator of the "L'il Abner" comic strip were dropped.

Circuit Judge Merrill Farr said the alternative to paying the fine and costs would be one year in prison.

The judge also rejected a motion by the district attorney that Capp agree to undergo psychiatric treatment.

"You are a public figure," Farr told Capp. "I don't think you'll ever seriously be tempted to do something like this again."

Capp pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted adultery shortly after his arraignment. He also had been charged with sodomy and indecent exposure.

Capp, of Cambridge, Mass., was represented by Harold Under of Washington, D.C., and Webster A. Hart of Eau Claire.

Capp was arrested last April after a lecture at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire.

In Friday's reading of the information in the case, it was stated that Capp had asked university officials to name three students representing different political points of view and have them come to his motel room for discussions.

A married woman student who went to the room made the accusations that resulted in the charges.

Suspended Pair Seek Court Aid

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Attorneys for Minnesota Gopher basketball players Ron Behagen and Corky Taylor asked U.S. District Court Friday for a temporary restraining order against their suspension by the Big Ten.

Judge Earl Larson conducted a two-hour hearing, and said he would announce his decision late Friday night or early Saturday.

Frank Brixius, a former Gopher football player representing Behagen, and Ron Simon, representing Taylor, urged that the Big Ten accede to a decision by university regents asking Commissioner Wayne Duke to lift the suspensions pending an inquiry into the Jan. 25 brawl with Ohio State.

Byron Gregory of Chicago represented the Big Ten office in the hearing.

There was no immediate comment from the Big Ten office on the regents' request for an immediate police inquiry into the suspensions and subsequent publicity.

Regents voted to support the University's Twin Cities Assembly Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics, which urged reinstatement of the players on grounds their rights were not properly safeguarded during the committee's investigation and there had been "undue harassment and character vilification."

A statement by the university's governing board said the regents regret "deeply that the events of Jan. 25 occurred. That the longstanding tradition of friendly competition between sister institutions of the Western Conference should be marred by this event is a source of great concern to us.

"However, we are compelled to urge that all responsible authorities withhold judgment with respect to individual responsibility until a proper inquiry has been conducted which protects the standards of due process which every citizen of this nation must enjoy as a matter of right."

The action brought comment from Ohio State Athletic Director Ed Weaver that he is "deeply concerned about a member institution challenging the decision of the commissioner. The athletic directors backed the suspensions with two conditions understood.

"Investigations both by the commissioner's office and Minnesota were to continue, and the suspended players were barred from practice as well as the remaining games."

Stanley Wenberg, University of Minnesota vice president in charge of student affairs, said there was "no precedent for a full-season suspension.

He said that penalties in other sports where rules are spelled out, "normally run one to two games....In light of this, the committee and I feel that three games were enough."

Duke announced Jan. 28 that Behagen, a 6-foot-9 starter, and Taylor, a 6-9 reserve, had been suspended for the season as a joint action by the Big Ten and Gopher officials.

However, the assembly committee said it overruled its own suspension.

Three Ohio State players were treated at a hospital after the game was stopped with 36 seconds to play and the Buckeyes awarded a 50-44 victory.

The assembly committee of faculty, students and alumni has been conducting an investigation since the suspensions, and plans to continue with its probe.

Max O. Schultze, Minnesota faculty representative to the Big Ten, said he telephoned Duke Thursday night to tell him of the assembly committee's decision. Duke took the matter under consideration, Schultze said.

Wenberg said it would be up to the Big Ten to decide if the players can participate in Saturday night's Minnesota game at Northwestern. Coach Bill Musselman and other players left Friday afternoon for Evanston, Ill.

The Gophers and Ohio State are tied for the Big Ten lead with 6-2 records. Ohio State plays Purdue in Columbus.

The Gophers have won two games and lost one since the suspensions. Ohio State is 1-2 since the brawl.

Frank Brixius, who was a tackle on the Minnesota 1960 football team, is a member of the law firm representing Behagen and said, "It may prove necessary to institute legal action here to get the Big Ten to comply with the university."

The Piloto Pardo managed to anchor near the grounded vessel while the Yelcho tied lines to the Lindblad Explorer to pull her off.

The navy agreed to try and free the ship only after her captain, who remained aboard with a skeleton crew, assumed all responsibility and assured that the vessel remained seaworthy.

The Lindblad Explorer is an ocean-going vessel with a cruising range of 6,000 miles.

A navy spokesman said there was extreme danger that once free, the ship might be dashed against nearby rocks.

The navy said the Piloto Pardo would steam to Puerto Williams, a navy air base and fueling station, at the edge of the Beagle Channel at the southern tip of Chile. This voyage was expected to take two days.

From there, the navy said the passengers would be taken further north to Punta Arenas, another two days sailing, where there is daily commercial airline service with Santiago.

Business — Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The importance of psychological attitudes in directing the course of economies has been discussed for more than a century but understanding and appreciating that importance is slow to develop.

Instead, some economists continue to study their statistics on the assumption that economic change can be detected and forecast in the numbers. It is as if everyone, like soldiers, responded by the numbers.

Some economists even continue to think consumer response, for example, is almost a mechanical thing dictated by factors such as the money supply and income. If the consumer has money, the theory says, he'll spend it.

Odd as it may seem to most human beings, responsible economists in high positions still view the human race as if it were a machine incapable of volition or thought or discretion.

To some degree this may have been so. Back in the 1800s, for example, millions of families had no choice but to spend every cent they earned — for food, clothing and shelter. Spending was predictable.

Today, however, millions of people have discretionary income. After they pay the essentials they have plenty of money left to do with as they choose. They have more money and better education. They have choice.

If consumer and business spenders were ever economic automatons they are not so today.

Into this context now comes the statement by Arthur F. Burns, Federal Reserve Board chairman, that "troubled times have left a psychological mark on people," and that "something has happened to our system of responses."

Burns was referring to the seeming reluctance of business and consumers to spend the economy into a resurgence.

Perhaps, he said in testimony to the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, "too much emphasis is being placed now on old-fashioned remedies." Such as easy credit and budget deficits as stimulants, he indicated.

Troubled times such as foreign wars and domestic conflicts, he suggested, have left consumers and businessmen unwilling to commit their resources for the long term. Enthusiasm for the future is lacking.

"If only life would quiet down for a while," he lamented, "those old and trusted economic policies might have a chance of working."

This suggests the alternative of adapting those theories to the realities of realizing that the actions of people are the ingredients of the theories — that the theories respond to people rather than the other way round.

Times change. People change. Shouldn't theories therefore change?

More than 20 years ago, Dr. George Katona of the Survey Research Center, University of Michigan, clearly stated the difference between ability to spend and willingness to spend for the other to spend.

"Discretionary demand is a function of both ability to buy and willingness to buy. The principle applies to business firms as well as consumers," he said in a book, "The Mass Consumption Society."

"Income, previously accumulated financial assets and access to credit constitute ability to buy and, thereby, the conditions without which inclination to buy cannot be transformed into demand."

"Willingness to buy is represented by psychological predispositions or motivational vectors in the individual who makes the purchase. Motives, attitudes, expectations, felt needs, and wants are some of the factors..."

A growing number of economists are aware of the psychological aspects of their trade and are devising measurements not only of ability to spend but willingness to spend.

Wall Street Dirty Linen

By CARLTON SMITH

At first you just don't believe it. After all, why should these two very prosperous-looking characters sit down and start confessing to you — or to Murray Bloom — all the sordid (if fascinating) details of how they've been rigging stocks, pushing off dogs on "the mooches," knocking off $50,000 here, a quarter of a million there?

But after a bit you know that Phil and Jerry are real. They name names, relate their stories to checkable facts. Among them is the fact that Jerry Allen was under indictment for stock manipulation while he was talking — and that's something you can check in the newspaper clips.

Why they talk so freely may continue to puzzle you, right to the end, but you'll have no doubts about it all being real, and they come very much alive in a book that's very good to make Wall Street very happy: "Rogues to Riches," by Murray Teigh Bloom.

OLD CROP WHEAT FUTURES ADVANCE

CHICAGO (AP) — Old crop wheat futures advanced nearly 2 cents a bushel early on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

Soybeans declined 1½ cents, while corn and oats prices were irregular.

Iced broilers gained 15 points under good commercial buying and short covering. Soybean meal showed little change but oil prices were about 5 points lower.

The buying in the wheat pits again was strongest in the nearby March option, which reflects current strikes in Chicago.

The elevator strike in Chicago is still in negotiation, despite some rumors that the two sides had stalled on some points. So long as the tight stock situation remains in Chicago, and the strike goes unsettled, wheat cannot be loaded or unloaded at elevators.

The selling of soybeans reflected some early weakness in the end products. Meal futures later recovered.

Corn futures came under early commercial selling pressure but trade was very light and prices moved in a range of a half cent. Oats gained some early support from commercial interest and local processors.

After about an hour, wheat was ¼ to 1½ cents; corn higher, March 1.59½; bushel unchanged to ¼ lower, March 1.19½; oats were unchanged to ¼ higher, March .76½; and soybeans were unchanged to 1½ lower, March 3.13½.

CHRYSLER CORP. ANNOUNCES PROFITS OF $83.7 MILLION

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has announced 1971 profits of $83.7 million and pledged "further substantial progress during 1972."

The $1.67-per-share income represents a comeback from a loss of $7.6 million in 1970, but was still far off the record $303 million profit of 1968.

Chrysler had record annual sales of $8 billion in 1971, an improvement of $1 billion over 1970.

Chrysler's worldwide sales of passenger cars, trucks and tractors in 1971 reached a record 2.7 million units, 9 percent more than in 1970. In the U.S. market, passenger car sales moved up nearly 6.7 percent to 1.4 million units.

Unit sales of 435,874 passenger cars and trucks in the United States during the fourth quarter of 1971 set a record for that period.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices nosed lower Friday as a wave of profit taking ended the rally of the past three sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 3.69 points to 917.59.

During the previous three days, the Dow had risen some 17 points and, according to analysts, profit taking was not unexpected.

The decline began late Thursday, when the Dow began falling back from the 925 area. Some brokers said this appeared to be a new resistance point.

Until some major news developments occur, technical factors are expected to be the major governing forces behind market activity, brokers said.

Though inflation and unemployment remain serious problems, many analysts are looking for a solid upturn in 1972, and some are predicting the Dow will break the 1000 level.

VOLUME on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 17.85 million shares, compared with 23.46 million shares Thursday.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks fell 0.26 to 58.33.

Of the 1,733 Big Board issues traded, 538 advanced, and 894 declined. There were 66 new yearly highs and six new lows.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell 1.5 to 390.4, with industrials off 2.1, rails off 0.3, and utilities off 1.3. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index fell 0.51 to 105.08.

Rails, metals, and electronics were higher. Steels were mixed, and most other categories were lower.

There were 147 blocks of 10,000 shares or over traded on the Big Board, compared with a revised total of 222 on Thursday.

Amplex was most active on the Big Board, losing ½ to 8¾. A 114,000 share block trading during the session at 9, unchanged.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price change index fell 0.02 to 27.47. Of the 1,213 issues traded, 397 advanced, and 573 declined. Volume totaled 5.65 million shares, compared with Thursday's 8.27 million shares.

RICHMOND SCHOOL MERGER PROTESTED

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Some 4,000 marchers, stomping their feet, chanting slogans and singing songs, have protested a federal court decision ordering the merger of Richmond schools with those of two suburban counties.

The crowd assembled in sub-freezing temperatures Thursday and staged their march around the Virginia Capitol where the General Assembly is in session.

The demonstrators had hoped to meet with Gov. Linwood Holton, but the governor went to an out-of-town plant dedication.

The marchers were protesting an order by U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. for the merger of the predominantly black schools of Richmond with the overwhelmingly white schools of Henrico and Chesterfield counties.

Although Merhige had ordered the consolidation to take effect in September, the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has granted a stay pending appeals of the Merhige ruling.

DRUG USE DECREASING

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Drug use in Los Angeles schools is decreasing and may indicate "a turning point in the war on drugs," city officials say.

A Police Department study made public Thursday revealed that 90 percent of local schools report less drug taking by students this year.

Drug arrests have fallen 20 percent in the past two years, with the biggest drop coming during the second half of last year, the report said.

YACHT SPACE REQUESTED

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Delegations to the Republican National Convention are requesting yacht space during their stay.

In response, a call for 64 yachts has been made by the California Yachtsman Committee for the August convention. The yachts must be 45 feet or larger to ensure adequate deck space for entertaining delegate groups, a spokesman said.

600 CANDIDATES

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — More than 600 candidates are listed on the May 9 primary ballot in the Kanawha County. Election officials had to order two sets of voting machines, one for each party's primary.

Most of the candidates are running for delegates to the national party conventions, a spokesman said.

McCarthy Calls Illinois Vote Critical One

LA CROSSE, Wis., (AP) — Eugene J. McCarthy said Thursday the March 21 presidential preference primary in Illinois may be more important to his hopes for the Democratic nomination than Wisconsin's April 4 primary.

"The critical vote will come for me in Illinois," McCarthy told some 800 students at University of Wisconsin-La Crosse.

Some observers feel the traditional importance of the Wisconsin primary will be diluted this year because, with 12 names on the Democratic side, it may be difficult for one candidate to claim a large percentage of the vote.

Illinois has two phases to its presidential primary—one a preferential test and the other to win delegates to the parties' national conventions. Only Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine will oppose McCarthy on the preferential ballot, and McCarthy's aides believe a strong showing against Muskie would give strong impetus to the former Minnesota senator's campaign.

"I would be significant if I won. Anything less than that would not be as significant," McCarthy quipped.

He accused Muskie of having supported former President Johnson's policy on the Vietnam war and of having been "part of the convention operation," a reference to the story of McCarthy's National Convention of 1968.

Responding to a student's question, McCarthy said his decision not to seek re-election to the Senate in 1970 did not mean he had dropped out of politics or deserted his supporters.

"I really didn't quit," he said. "It was a question of 'where do you go to that point?'"

"I was present at all the moratoriums and all the marches. I worked at it the way I thought I should," McCarthy said. "I've been criticized for dropping out, but some of the other candidates are even more disturbed that I dropped back in."

NIXON TO FOCUS ON DOMESTIC MATTERS

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon plans to focus on domestic matters during a weekend stay in Florida that also includes some time for continuing his China trip studies.

Rain greeted Nixon after his arrival Thursday night. Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally and John Ehrlichman, chief domestic adviser, accompanied the President and launched discussions on the two-hour plane flight.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon will be conferring with them on pending legislation, planned messages to Congress on domestic issues and international monetary developments.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and his wife also were aboard the presidential plane but Ziegler said they came for a weekend vacation at Key Biscayne. However, Rogers' briefcase bulged with papers.

Nixon flew to Florida after holding an impromptu news conference at the White House Thursday afternoon.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Medication Is Dangerous

Disease Can Cause Change In Bones

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would very much appreciate it if you could give me some information on what might be checked and if there is some medication for my problem. My body structure has changed in size and this is not due to a weight change. An example would be I am unable to wear the hats, gloves, or shoes that I wore. Whatever had taken place has also affected my vision. The eyeball protrudes and yet is sunk back into the head due to the bone around it growing and therefore changing my face, which was round, to a more oblong shape. My ears have been giving me much trouble. My mouth and throat have grown up and back so that I have to be very careful that I do not choke when eating.

I did see a gland specialist. He said bone or body structure cannot be changed, but my body has signs that it is doing just that.

Dear Reader—I presume a gland specialist would recognize bone growth associated with a glandular disorder. Your description suggests that you have an abnormal function of the pituitary gland.

This little gland which is underneath the brain secretes growth hormone, which all of us must have during our growing period. The long bones in the body calcify and growth of our legs and arms stops under normal circumstances. If this doesn't occur, the growth hormone from the pituitary can result in giants. If the bones are already sealed so that they don't grow, over-activity of the pituitary gland can cause changes of the hands and feet and changes of the face and head as you have described them.

Commonly, individuals with these problems cannot wear the same ring size that they used to wear. Difficulties with vision sometimes occur with this disorder because the pituitary gland is also located where the two optic nerves branch out toward to go to each eye. If you should have an overgrowth of the pituitary gland in this area, it can affect vision.

I would strongly recommend that you check with your local medical society and ask to be seen by an endocrinologist. If you are near a university medical center, I would suggest that you write there for an appointment in the endocrinology section for the possibility of acromegaly, which is the technical term for the condition I suspect that you may have.

I am astonished by your statement that a gland specialist told you that bone or body structure cannot be changed. This suggests strongly to me that you have been seeing the wrong gland specialist, because acromegaly is a well-recognized problem and it certainly does increase the size of bones, particularly the hands, feet and head.

Police said the judge was nude and bleeding from multiple wounds from a .32 caliber pistol when a motel employee discovered him.

He was taken from the Gateway Downtown Motor Inn to Martland Medical Center, where he died Thursday after six hours of surgery.

Before he died, Mrs. Stout, accompanied by her attorney, surrendered to police at headquarters here.

Mrs. Stout, a tall strawberry blonde, a former Newark teacher, was identified by police as the Naomi Berry convicted of stabbing the judge five years ago.

Police said a woman matching Mrs. Stout's description had signed the motel register for Room 509 as "N. Stout." She was seen driving away in the judge's car shortly before he was found, police said.

Yancey, survived by a widow and several children, was appointed to the bench by former Gov. Robert B. Meyner in 1956. He had served 10 years as an assistant U.S. attorney, an assistant New Jersey attorney general and an assistant Newark corporation counsel.

FREEZE WON'T AFFECT ILLINOIS UTILITY RATES

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Illinois Commerce Commission says the 30-day freeze on public utility rate increases ordered by the federal Price Commission will apparently not affect Illinois utility rates.

A spokesman for the commission said Thursday no public utility rate increases were due to go into effect in Illinois in the next 30 days.

However, if the freeze was ordered Thursday is extended it could play a part in commission deliberations on across-the-board rate increases sought by Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and the Iowa-Illinois Gas Co., the spokesman said.

Hearings on both rate hike requests are continuing and a decision is not expected for several months.

Betty Canary Lose 100 Pounds In 8 Months

This is the time of year when we start looking for an easy way out. That is to say, at last I admitted it isn't my dress bunching up around the waist—it's me—and I have to do something (read: as little as possible) about losing weight.

So, when I heard that a woman in Flint, Mich., lost 100 pounds in eight months, I called and asked for her secret.

"Good morning, Mrs. Hildebrandt," I began. "I am trying to get rid of the lumps left by all those Christmas cookies I ate and..."

"Stop eating so much," she answered.

"Well," I said, trying to ignore her, "will you tell me what magic pill you used?"

"The only pill you need is a multivitamin and," she added sternly, "stop eating so much!"

"Did you take a vacation at one of those fabulous health farms?" I begged. "How long did it take to save the money to go?"

"I stayed at home and cut down on the grocery bills and used that money to buy some new clothes," she said.

"Look!" I demanded. "Any woman who went from 240 pounds to 140 owes it to the public to tell the secret."

"I did have a goal," she admitted.

"Now we're getting somewhere! Your husband threaten to leave you? Your children hate you? Your doctor said you were sick?"

"I just decided one day last spring that I was going to wear a pantsuit."

"And?"

"I lost 100 pounds by cutting down on the portions of food I ate and at the after-holiday sales I tried on pantsuits."

"And?"

"Anyone who weighs 140 pounds is too big for a pantsuit," she said firmly, "so I'm losing another 20 pounds."

"I'll bet I know how you're going to do it," I sighed.

"You want to get rid of your Christmas cookie lumps?" she asked.

"Lay on the advice," I cried. "Stop eating so much."

Polly's Pointers

It's Possible To Remove Printing On Flour Bags

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—For many years my mother and I have both successfully removed ink writings and even pictures from flour and other such bags by the following method: Use any type grease (depending on your budget), such as shortening, lard, bacon grease, butter, etc. Put one hand on the back side of the print and rub grease in thoroughly with the other hand. The print will begin to "run," and I rub it between my hands like I rub dirty spots on clothes. Wash as usual. I always left the bag "greased up" overnight. Do not iron until the print is completely removed. We have made embroidered lunch cloths and many lovely things from feed and flour bags. This is a bother but well worth it. I always saved several sacks to do them in one big messy job.

DEAR POLLY—To remove the printing from her 50-pound flour sacks, Mrs. A.K. should get them good and wet in COLD water (never hot), squeeze lightly, sprinkle generously with plain cornmeal and washing powder and rub hard. Roll up, put in plastic bag and leave overnight. Next morning, wash and rinse in cold water. Boil in good suds, add bleach to the rinse water and, when thoroughly rinsed, hang in the sun to dry. If stains are really stubborn, leave in the sun for several days and over the nights, too.—MRS. M.C.P.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—For years I have bought white cotton broadcloth shirts with a 16 neck size. They were a little loose when new but after several washings fit just right. The last I bought are marked 65 percent dacron and 35 percent cotton and they did not shrink at all so are still too loose. Is there something or some way that these shirts could be shrunk so they would fit?—MRS. D.E.B.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve concerns the length of a standard-size bed. Many people need or would enjoy a bed with a mattress at least 82 inches long. Many do not want or have room for the wider queen- or king-sized beds but would appreciate the extra length in a regular width bed. I wonder how long it has since a bed size change had been made until we got the king size.

It is almost impossible for North and South to keep out of four hearts with today's cards. Of course, if North is a no-trumpist, he will respond one no-trump to his partner's heart opening and then bid three no-trump after the correct three heart rebid.

The time the no-trumpist would be right and three no-trump is a cinch. There is no real play for four hearts but South brought it home.

East put his ace of spades on dummy's queen and led back the queen of diamonds. South ducked and East continued with the jack. South played his ace this time. Then he cashed his club ace!

West played the four spot and South was home with the bacon. He entered dummy with a trump, ruffed the six of spades; entered dummy with a second trump; discarded his last diamond on the king of spades; ruffed dummy's last diamond and led one of his low clubs.

West was stuck in with the king of clubs and had to lead a spade or a diamond. It did not matter which. South ruffed in dummy and discarded his last club.

South was lucky. He found West with king and one club and each opponent with exactly two trumps but South had given the cards every chance.

Note that he led the ace of clubs as soon as he got in. If he had postponed that play, the chances are that West would have dropped the king under the ace.

JHS 75-73 Winner; Routt Nets Title 41-40

Late Crimson Burst Ended By Reiterman

By BUFORD GREEN
Sports Editor

Tim Reiterman's bucket with seven seconds left capped a string of eight straight points that boosted Jacksonville High from apparent defeat to a thrilling 75-73 Capitol Conference victory over a strong Decatur Eisenhower outfit at the JHS Bowl Friday evening.

The stirring comeback came after the Crimson trailed by seven points with just over two minutes left and by six with less than a minute remaining, with the winners firing in the final eight markers of the generally well-played contest.

The victory boosted Jacksonville to 14-6 on the year and 4 in the conference standings and dropped Eisenhower to 12-6 and 8-3. The win also avenged an earlier 78-72 loss to the Panthers.

Setting the stage for the closing heroics, Jacksonville entered the final chapter trailing 54-53 but was quickly down 60-55 behind the board control of leaping Sturgis Jones and driving guard Bryan Peters. Only two long bombs by Jim Bonds and a baseliner by Dave Pack kept the Jacks from being blown out of contention in the next three minutes, with Eisenhower holding a 66-61 count on Jones' tip with four minutes to play.

Changing to a man-to-man press, Jacksonville got two free ones by Ed Aring and a side jumper by Tim Olson but still trailed 68-63 with three to play. Jones tipped in another missed shot and Peters hit a layup off a steal for a 74-65 count 2:42 from the end.

There the momentum changed. Ron Fairfield clicked on two gift shots before Norman Coe hit one of two free ones for a 76-67 margin inside two minutes. That was to be the last Eisenhower point.

Leland Wilson cashed from underneath and Olson canned a long jumper at the 1:22 mark for a two-point difference. Coe hit the front end of a one-and-one with 147 showing but was called for being over the foul stripe. Fairfield turned that into a knotting bucket ten seconds later and the Crimson got the

Glenwood Races To 63-49 Margin Over Ashland

CHATHAM — A taller Glenwood club led from the start and notched a 63-49 Sangamo Conference count over Ashland Friday evening.

The loss drops Ashland, 14-6 overall, to 5-3 in the conference and out of contention. Glenwood and Rochester each have only one league defeat.

Glenwood led 16-7 and 32-13 at the first two breaks. Ashland got within eight in the final period before falling back.

Mike Tozer whipped in 19 points for the winners, who held a decisive 50 to 32 per cent shooting edge. Rocky Ballard netted 15 and Doug Elliott 12 for the losers, who split the rebounding totals.

Buffone Signs Chicago Pact

CHICAGO (AP) — Veteran linebacker Doug Buffone, one of five Chicago Bears who played out their option last season, signed a contract Friday.

Terms were not disclosed by the National Football League club, for whom the 230-pound Buffone, 27, starts his seventh season this year.

Other Bears who played out their option in 1971 but remain unsigned for 1972 are flanker Dick Gordon, defensive tackle George Seals, quarterback Jack Comanannon and linebacker Jimmy Gunn.

Clan Seeks Revenge Vs Culver Club

MacMurray's basketball Highlanders will be seeking revenge Saturday night, when the Clansmen play host to Culver Stockton College in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

Mac will be aiming for a split in the season series with the Canton, Missouri club, which downed the Highlanders 93-87 in a January encounter. Culver, which holds a 15-4 mark, features a front-line averaging 50.3 points per game. Two area athletes, Mark Scheffler of Springfield (Lanphier) and Marty Booth of Nebo (Pittsfield H.S.), are expected to see action for the visiting Wildcats.

Leading the Highlander forces will be junior center Dave Bremer (Sparta), who recently moved into the No. 15 spot among all-time MacMurray scorers; sophomore Gary Haberl (Columbia) and freshman Brian Dusenberry (Peoria-Spaulding) at the forwards; and sophomore James Hawkins (Brandywine, Md.) and junior Bob Wooten (St. Louis) at guard.

Bremer, who has upped his season average to 15.1 points per game, counted 15 points and 10 rebounds in leading MacMurray's effort against national power Ohio University last Tuesday night. Dusenberry and Hawkins hold identical 12.9 ppg averages, while Wooten has hit at 10.3 average.

Haberl, a reserve who turned starter at mid-season, has managed double figures in each of the Highlanders' last five outings.

Also expected to see action for the Clan are sophomore forward Jeff Kinnemann (Daventon-West), who is the second leading rebounder on the club, and sophomore guard Dave Nelson (Peoria-Central), who netted 12 against Ohio University.

Havana Edges Macomb 83-82 In Double OT

HAVANA — Bob Stinauer sparked with 37 points and 26 rebounds, and Mark Huber sank two crucial free throws with ten seconds left to boost Havana over Macomb 83-82 in double overtime Friday night.

The Spoon River conference contest leaves Havana with a 12-7 overall mark and 5-2 loop record, compared to a 15-5 overall count for Macomb, now 3-5 in the Spoon.

With the score tied 72-72 at the end of regulation play, the tightly fought game, both teams scored four points in the first overtime as Terry Kellum of Macomb hit a bucket at the gun to necessitate the second extra period.

The two teams exchanged baskets until Huber sank a basket and picked up two free throws moments later to give the Ducks a three-point spread. Steve Daniels hit from outside at the buzzer to bring Macomb back within one.

The Ducks hit 43 per cent from the field, compared to a hot 51 clip by Macomb. Following Stinauer in the Havana column were Chris Benton with 15 and Jon Kastendick and Huber with 14. Tony Moore with 21 points led Macomb.

Culver Rolls Past Blueboys By 81-53

By JERRY SEIBERT

Culver — Stockton College used a pressure man-to-man defense which severely cramped Illinois College's regular offensive pattern and breezed by the Blueboys 81-53 in a non-conference basketball game played Friday night at the IC gym.

The visiting Wildcats were able to crack the IC zone defense from outside as well as inside when they broke open the game which had been close until near the end of the opening half.

Culver-Stockton initiated its pressing tactics with three and a half minutes to play before intermission and ran a two-point lead, 26-24, to ten points, 40-30, before the end of play. IC cut the visitors' lead to eight in the opening minutes of the second chapter as Don Steers and Dan Little hit free throws and Little added a two-pointer to counter a Wildcat bucket by the game's high scorer, Jeff Stollberg, who ended the night with 21 markers.

The rest of the contest belonged to the harrassing Culver-Stockton outfit as the Blueboys were only able to shoot at a 25.9 per cent clip in the final seven minutes, connecting on seven of 27 shots from the floor.

For the game, the winners fired away at 44.9 per cent rate, making 31 of 69 floor attempts, while IC finished at 33.9 per cent with an 18-53 showing from the field. Culver-Stockton cashed in on 19 of 25 gift shots and the hosts dropped in 17 of 28 tries from the 15-foot line.

The Wildcats doubled IC's rebounding mark, taking a 42-21 margin. The winners held an 11-5 rebound edge on the offensive ends and chalked up eight baskets following offensive retrieves, compared to two by the Blueboys.

Each team committed 23 turnovers, IC's coming mainly against the press while Culver-Stockton's resulted mostly in forced passes against the Blueboy zone.

Mark Scheffler hit 8-12 field goals and 3-4 free shots to follow Stollberg in the scoring column with 19 tallies. Center Frank Gutierrez added ten markers for the Wildcats before he fouled out late in the contest. Frosh Little was 4-4 from the field and 4-7 from the charity stripe to pace the Blueboys with 12 tallies. Jack Messmore dropped in ten counters, eight coming in the opening period.

IC took the opening lead on a gift shot by Little, but then found itself down 7-3 with less than three minutes gone. Buckets by Terry Woodring and Steers knotted the game at 9-9 with 15:39 remaining.

Culver-Stockton managed to pull away after that on some hot outside shooting by Stollberg and three offensive rebound baskets by Scheffler to mount a 26-16 lead with 5:38 to go in the half.

Eight straight points by the hosts pulled them to within two, 26-24, as 3:40 showed on the clock. At this point the Wildcats turned on their press and took control of the game, ripping off eight straight markers of their own. The 29-point difference at the game's end was the visitor's biggest lead in the contest.

Ryan, Beard Spark Count Over Triopia

CONCORD — Bob Ryan sank both ends of a one-and-one with five seconds showing on the clock to give Routt the lead 41-38 and a last second move by Triopia failed to catch the Rockets as Routt captured the PMSC Conference championship, 41-40, Friday night.

Routt, now 12-9 overall and 7-1 in the conference, possesses the conference championship alone for the first time since 1959, though the Rockets shared the crown in 1960.

Senior Dan Beard, who led the victors with 16 points, sparked the Routt attack in the first half as he hit eight of his team's 20 in the half. Routt held its biggest lead, 20-12, going into the locker room at halftime after leading 12-6 at the first stop.

The Rockets hit six free throws on as many attempts from the line in first half, while the hosts, now 9-12 overall and 4-3 in the loop, went 0-5 at the line. Triopia handed the ball over eight times in the opening two frames, compared to only three miscues for the champions.

W. German Girl Speeds Past U.S.

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — There stood the folks from Northbrook, Ill., cheering their girls on to what they thought would be a 1-2 victory in the 1,000 meters speed skating event of the Winter Olympics.

But a pretty, dark-haired, 17-year-old West German girl outskated both of them.

The Northbrook girls—Anne Henning, 16, and Dianne Holum, 20—were everybody's favorites Friday. Monika Pflug, the winner, had finished 16th overall in the 1971 World Championships and was a rank outsider.

"Well, that's sport," said Jim Hawkins, U.S. speed-skating team leader. "Sometimes you win, and sometimes you don't."

Miss Pflug won in an Olympic record time of 1:31.40, with Atje Keulen-Deelstra of the Netherlands second and Miss Henning getting the bronze. Miss Holum placed sixth.

But Japanese skiers still were sunny for the Northbrook delegation. Anne and Dianne had a gold medal each and a ticker-tape welcome waiting in Chicago Monday.

Miss Holum won the gold medal in the 1,500 meters; and Miss Henning, in the 500 meters.

The Northbrook contingent thought it was just a matter of time to decide which of them would win the 1,000 meters. Anne, who set a world record of 1:27.30 for the distance last month, was top favorite.

Dianne had some excuse for her failure, Anne had none.

Dianne was paired with Lisbeth Berg of Norway, who kept her waiting several minutes at the start looking for a lost armband.

Ed Holum, Dianne's father, said outright it was gamesmanship by the Norwegians.

"Dianne was all keyed up and ready to go," he said. "It was most unfair to keep her waiting around like that."

Newsman asked if Anne's failure resulted from her strenuous feats in the 500 meters the day before. She skated twice, because she was fouled the first time, and broke the Olympic record each time.

But Anne, all smiles, said she didn't think so.

"Anyway, I'm very happy," she said. "I think I'm a lucky girl to go home with a gold and bronze medal from the Olympics."

Ed Rudolph, Anne's coach, had a different explanation for her defeat. She was paired against Ludmila Titova of Russia, one of the most formidable rivals, and beat her by a yard or so.

"She made the mistake of skating against Titova instead of skating her own race," Rudolph said. "She didn't stroke properly."

Anne commented: "I knew that, if I beat Titova, I would have a good finishing time."

Miss Henning's world record survived. But the Olympic record of 1:32.60, set by Carry Geysens of the Netherlands at Grenoble in 1968, was bettered six times.

Those who lowered it, in addition to Miss Pflug, were Miss Keulen-Deelstra with 1:31.61, Miss Henning with 1:31.62, Miss Titova, fourth in 1:31.85, Nina Statkevitch of Russia, fifth in 1:32.21, and Miss Holum, sixth in 1:32.41.

Miss Holum has a chance to win another medal Saturday in the last speed skating event, the 3,000 meters.

Talent War Spreads To Pro Hockey

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The athletic talent war spreads to professional hockey this weekend when officials of the 12 World Hockey Association franchises meet to conduct their first player draft.

"We'll be drafting from all levels—professional, college, amateur and European," said W. D. "Bill" Hunter, owner of the WHA's Edmonton franchise and the league's director of playing activities.

Hunter has said he expects each team's roster to list five players who are in the National Hockey League this season.

If that occurs, the competition between the WHA and the NHL for players, at least in numbers, would outstrip the raiding that took place between pro football and basketball leagues.

But Hunter and Gary L. Davidson, WHA president, don't anticipate as costly a bidding process as in the other sports, for two reasons:

—Hockey players generally don't come with the national reputations of an All-American football or basketball player.

—WHA teams will most likely avoid seeking NHL superstars. But they will draft NHL players who are completing contracts this season. The option or reserve clause of NHL contracts which bind players for another season is not recognized by the WHA.

The draft meetings will be secret sessions Saturday and Sunday, with two announcements made to the press each day. Order of selection will be based on a draw.

Each team will pick a number from one to 12 to determine the order of selection of the first round. The second round will be chosen in reverse, and the teams will alternate thereafter.

Each team has three players and a goaltender on a preferred list of players. The players may come from any of the four sources Hunter mentioned, which includes athletes in the current Winter Olympic Games in Sapporo, Japan.

Carrollton Ices Tie In IVC 55-54

CARROLLTON — Two free throws 2:48 from the finish turned out to be the difference as Carrollton held on for a 55-54 overtime victory over North Greene and iced at least a tie for the Illinois Valley Conference title Friday evening.

The victory boosted Carrollton to an 18-3 overall mark and a 6-1 IVC mark with only one game remaining. North Greene drops to 8-13 and 4-2 with two loop tilts left.

The game was back and forth at each stop, with Carrollton's Dave Hobson sending the game into overtime with a bucket 2:48 from the finish. Dave Grueter cashed two free tries with 2:48 left in the extra period for the Hawks' only points in the overtime. North Greene's Karl Wendell hit the front end of a one-and-one with 23 seconds to play but missed the second.

The victors held a slight 45 to 44 per cent shooting edge but controlled the rebounding by 33-20, with Grueter picking off 11, Hobson eight and Ed Roundcount seven.

Roundcount topped the Hawks with 18 points, with David Schutz firing in 15 and Dennis Garrison 12 for North Greene.

Ohio State, Gophers In Spotlight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Minnesota's suspension-strapped Gophers and defending champion Ohio State risk their coledadership in the Big Ten basketball race against last-place Northwestern and fourth-spot Purdue Saturday.

The Gophers, matched with the Buckeyes at the top with 6-2 records, have had a 2-1 record since regulars Ron Behagen and Corky Taylor were suspended for their part in a melee Jan. 25 against Ohio State in Minneapolis.

Since the controversial Gopher-Buckeye incident, Minnesota coach Bill Musselman has made only one substitution over three games, including last Tuesday's 61-42 loss at Indiana.

Ohio State, whose giant center Luke Witte and Mark Wagner suffered concussions in the bloody Minnesota fray, suffered both of its losses in four subsequent games.

The Buckeyes, however, take a perfect home record into Saturday's regionally televised game with visiting Purdue, still a title contender with a 3-2 mark.

Against Minnesota, host Northwestern takes a league dormat record of 2-6 Saturday night. But Wildcat coach Brad Snyder commented: "The Gophers are not as tall now without Behagen (6-9) and Taylor (6-9), and their zone isn't as effective on the road."

In other Big Ten games Saturday, Illinois (2-3) is at Michigan (5-2) and Indiana (2-4) visits Wisconsin (2-3) for afternoon tilts, and Michigan State (3-4) appears at Iowa (2-5) in a night tilt.

The spotlight mainly will be focused on the Purdue-Ohio State battle in which the loser will be inflicted with a third defeat and dimming title hopes.

Purdue's Bill Franklin is the Big Ten's top scorer and rebounder and the springy Boilermaker star engages in a head-to-head scoring duel with OSU's Alan Hornyak as contenders for the pointmaking title. Franklin has a 25.4 average, compared with Hornyak's 24.5.

At the end of the first stanza Waverly held a slim 15-11 lead but outscored the Tigers by six, 15-9, in the second period to take a 30-20 lead into the locker room at intermission.

The second half was all Waverly as the Scotties outscored ISD 18-6 in the third quarter and 24-15 in the final eight minutes. Waverly held a large rebounding edge as the Scotties hauled down 41 caroms to ISD's 22 grabs.

Patterson Scores Unanimous Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson, a 37-year-old two-time former champion bidding for another shot at the heavyweight title, pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over tough Oscar Bonavena Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

A tremendous rally in the final two rounds by Patterson apparently earned him the victory over the brawling Argentine, who twice gave champion Joe Frazier tough fights.

Patterson, who was on the floor in the fourth round, had said before the fight he would seek a shot at Frazier's title if he was satisfied with his performance against Bonavena.

Frazier, who was among he crowd of 17,958, had said all Floyd would have to do to earn a chance at the title would be to beat Bonavena.

The knockdown early in the fourth round came when Bonavena landed a left hook high on Patterson's head. The punch seemed to catch Patterson off balance. He was up at two took a mandatory eight-count and obviously was not hurt.

Referee Johnny LoBianco had it five rounds for Patterson, four for Bonavena and one even. Judge Tony Castellano scored it 6-4 Patterson and Judge Bill Recht scored it 7-2-1 Patterson. The Associated Press had it 6-4 for Bonavena.

A quick poll of ringside writers gave Bonavena a 5-4 edge.

All three officials gave Patterson the last three rounds and LoBianco gave him the last five after scoring the first even and giving Bonavena the next four.

It was Patterson's rally in the final two rounds that brought him the victory. Apparently tired after the eighth round, Patterson seemed to find new life at the beginning of the ninth and scored with several good rights to the head and a series of body punches.

In the 10th round, Patterson, weighing 191 1/2 pounds to 206 for his 29-year-old opponent, kept up the pressure, scoring with a good left hook and a body barrage early and answering a Bonavena left to the head with a sharp right of his own to Oscar's head.

Porta Clinches Title Tie, Rips McVile 83-59

PETERSBURG — Porta jumped into command early and was never threatened in blasting Morrisonville 83-59 and clinching a tie for the MSM Conference crown Friday evening.

The winners, now 19-2 overall and 9-0 in the MSM with at least 20 straight league victories, started off with a 31-18 first frame bulge and was up by 54-28 at intermission. Rich Brauer had ten and Casey Duncanson nine in the opening frame and Duncanson added ten more in the second.

Duncanson finished with 21 points and Steve Selcke 15 to pace the winners, who held a 55 to 41 per cent shooting edge and 40-24 board control.

Les Curvey fired in a 34-16 high 22 for the losers.

SPECIAL COSTARS DICK VAN DYKE, MARY TYLER MOORE

Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore, stars of their own situation comedy series on the CBS Television Network, showcase their singing, dancing and acting talents on "Dick Van Dyke and the Other Woman," acclaimed one-hour music-and-comedy special to be rebroadcast 8-9 p.m. Monday, Feb. 14.

Van Dyke and Miss Moore, who formerly starred together for five seasons in "The Dick Van Dyke Show," are seen in a series of blackouts showing how their work in situation comedies prepared them for many of the problems of everyday life.

LEONARD BERNSTEIN CONDUCTS LISZT'S FAUST SYMPHONY

Leonard Bernstein delves into the musical meaning of Franz Liszt's monumental "Faust Symphony" — and into the complex and contradictory character of its composer as well — when he conducts and narrates the first of this season's New York Philharmonic Young People's Concerts 3:30-4:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 13, on the CBS Television Network.

Despite Liszt's preeminence among 19th-century composers and the fact that he was the most celebrated musician of the era, his "Faust Symphony," considered by many to be his true masterpiece, is rarely performed. Liszt is noted mainly for his piano music—the ubiquitous Hungarian Rhapsodies, the perennial "Liebestraum," the famous E-flat Piano Concerto—and this is natural, since the composer was the greatest pianist of his time, some say of all time.

But his more ambitious works remain largely unplayed, like the "Faust Symphony," which, for Liszt, was a complete labor of love. He was fascinated by the Faust legend, and particularly by its supreme expression in the great dramatic poem (or poetic drama) by Goethe, and it was upon this work that the composer based his own.

Miss Winters won the second of her two Academy Awards for her portrayal in this film.

Prison Strike In Progress At Marion

MARION, Ill. (AP) — Prison officials said Friday that most of the inmates at the maximum security federal prison in Marion have refused to work since Monday.

George W. Pickett, warden, said information was not released previously upon advice from the U.S. district attorney's office which was prosecuting the trial of five prisoners in connection with an escape.

The trial ended Thursday. Three men were convicted and two acquitted.

A prison spokesman said 450 of the 500 inmates have not worked since Monday. He said prison officials have been negotiating daily with the inmates over several demands.

The spokesman did not list them.

Psychiatrist Says Marijuana Laws Too Strict

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's top psychiatrist said Friday that scientific research does not justify legalization of marijuana, but he personally believes criminal penalties on pot smoking should be eased.

Dr. Bertram S. Brown, director of the National Institute of Mental Health, commented at a news conference on his agency's second annual report to Congress on the health consequences of marijuana.

"I do not think the current state of scientific opinion justifies legalization at this point," he said, pointing to unanswered questions about possible brain damage and effects on chronic users and children.

Brown said he favors what he called decriminalization of marijuana penalties, which now range from probation to long jail sentences, perhaps to just "token penalties" such as letters of reprimand.

Reverse Ruling In Virginia Slander Suit

BEARDSTOWN — The Virginia Gazette reported this week that the Illinois Court of Appeals has reversed a decision reached in circuit court in Cass county in May of 1970 awarding damages in the amount of $75,775 against Miss Marjorie Taylor, who was sued for slander by the then principal at Virginia High School, Monte M. Stanley.

The suit was filed Nov. 23, 1964, alleging "as a direct and proximate result of false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory statements made and published by the defendant," Miss Taylor, the plaintiff was greatly injured and damaged. It alleged that he was prevented from effectively following his profession as principal.

A jury held for the plaintiff and declared Miss Taylor guilty, placing damages at $75,775. The case was tried before Judge Lyle Lipe.

Stanley was represented by Thomas F. Londrigan and Boyle and Wynn of Carlinville; and Glenn Colburn, president of the Virginia board of education, was attorney for Miss Taylor.

The trial lasted several days and witnesses included former students, former teachers and others.

The jury included six women and six men.

'Sister Fuzz' Intends To Stand Ground

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — Sister Mary Cornelia Hawkins, who has been a special police officer in the Village of Pontoon Beach, Ill., says her suspension does not mean she's leaving town.

The 46-year-old Catholic nun acquired the nickname "Sister Fuzz" because of her work with juveniles. She was suspended by the Village Board last month for not following proper procedure in making complaints about enforcement of laws. She was also involved in a Madison County grand jury investigation of alleged corruption in the Pontoon Beach area.

Sister Mary Cornelia, 46, was hospitalized recently with a lung infection and said she then visited relatives in Ohio. In a sharply-worded news release Friday, she denied reports that she was being transferred by her order, the Sisters of Divine Providence. She said she intends to return to the Granite City area, where she lived in a convent, and continue her work with juveniles.

Failure To Curb Billboard Blight May Cost State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Illinois stands a chance to lose some $32.4 million in federal highway improvement funds under action started Friday by the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Secretary of Transportation John Volpe sent a telegram to Missouri Gov. Warren E. Hearnes notifying him that his state had been penalized $11.5 million in highway aid for failure to enact and put into effect billboard control legislation as required by the Federal Highway Beautification Act.

Volpe said the telegram should serve as notice to 11 other states, Illinois among them, that they will lose 10 per cent of their federal highway aid allocations for the next fiscal year unless they too enact and implement such legislation by March 31.

Volpe added that all 12 states in question were told last year that the legislation, if any, they had passed failed to meet federal standards.

Protestants Want Their Case Presented

BELFAST (AP) — Leaders of Northern Ireland's Protestant majority ordered a propaganda offensive on Friday to confront world opinion with their case for keeping the embattled province British.

Prime Minister Brian Faulkner appealed for cash from the Protestant community to finance the campaign even as three terrorist bombs rocked Belfast, destroying a furniture store and a finance company's offices and badly damaging a factory.

Responsibility for the blasts was laid to the Irish Republican Army, which is fighting a guerrilla war against 15,000 British troops in a bid to unite the North with the Catholic Irish republic.

Leaders of the Roman Catholic minority also announced a third Sunday demonstration in as many weeks to protest the Northern Ireland government's policy of internment IRA suspects without trial. The government also has banned all parades in the province.

Faulkner, leader of the Protestant-based Unionist party, said the publicity campaign would "counter vicious propaganda being poured out against us ... We must actively publicize our determination to remain British."

The anti-internment parade, in defiance of government ban, was set to place at Enniskillen by the Northern Resistance Movement, an offshoot of the Civil Rights Association.

Thirteen persons were killed in Londonderry Jan. 30 when troops and civil rights demonstrators protesting internment clashed. Thousands of Catholics paraded again against internment at Newry, a strongly Catholic border town, last Sunday, without violence.

Demo Leaders Want To Stall Patronage Limits

CHICAGO (AP) — Lawyers for the Democratic party asked a U.S. District Court judge Friday to delay implementation of an agreement limiting patronage practices until after the March 21 primary election.

The agreement would prohibit compulsory political work or contributions by government employees.

Both Democrats and Republicans had agreed to the plan, which was the result of a suit filed two years ago by Michael Shaskan chairman of the Independent Voters of Illinois.

Judge Abraham L. Marovitz must hold a public hearing before signing the order and attorneys for the IVI recommended March 9 as a date for the hearing.

Peter Fitzpatrick, an attorney for Mayor Richard J. Daley, said a hearing on that date might be used by candidates to testify for political purposes.

After an hour of arguments Judge Marovitz scheduled a hearing for Feb. 16 for a motion by the IVI attorney to sign the agreement without holding the hearing.
